Seasonality

The total revenue for the 2010-2011 fiscal year was £10,247,219.32. The highest trading month was November, with £1,452,115.98 sales, 84% higher than a typical month. This corresponds with the run up to the holiday season.

Best Sellers

Of the top 10 items sold by revenue, 6 of them are also in the top 10 by quantity sold. The best sellers are typically made up of low-price, high-volume sales.

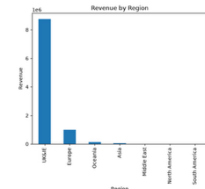

Markets

The most value per customer comes from the Oceania and Asia regions, however, the proximity of the European region would provide the third highest value per customer, without the large costs of global expansion.

Customer Concentration

The top 1% of customers account for 32% of all spending, indicating a wholesale-focused business model.

Order Value

The average order value is £518.24, split into £487.37 on average for UK orders and £813.45 for non-UK orders, 67% higher.

Returns and Cancellations

Number of cancellations: 9288. Number of returns: 10624. Cancellation percentage: 1.71%. Return percentage: 1.96%. Total revenue lost due to cancellations: -896,812.49. Total revenue lost due to returns: -896,812.49. Percentage of total revenue lost due to cancellations: -9.20%. Percentage of total revenue lost due to returns: -9.20%. The most cancelled item was the Pink Heart Shape Photo Frame, and the most returned item was the Medina Stamped Metal Stool.

Data Quality

I would be inclined to trust the cleaned dataset when writing a sales report. A very small percentage of the data was removed, and most of the cleaning revolved around ensuring the data was human interpretable, rather than any significant alterations. The main assumption made was that the share of cancellations and returns, as well as the number of nonstandard stock codes removed would not impact how representative the dataset was of the population of customers.
